LOOKING FOR A PROJECT-BASED COURSE FOR SPRING 2015?

AINS:3554:0100
also known as (149:154:100)

Native Histories & Endurance in Midwest
Start and end times: 3:30-4:45pm MW 169 VAN
Instructors: Nicholas Brown (Primary Instructor)

The American Indian & Native Studies Program is very pleased to offer Native Endurance in the Midwest this spring, an interesting project-based course with no books or exams. The course focuses instead on shorter readings/class discussions, and students will complete a collaborative mapping project.

This can be used in Program option A or for the following tracks:
Human Rights, Postcolonial and Diasporic Studies, Global Artistic Trad. & Change, Global Resources & Environment

Nicholas Brown is a social scientist specializing in space/place, an artist and an activist. Since Professor Brown is visiting faculty, we are not sure that it will be available in the future—but it is a great class with a 6.0/6.0 rating from previous students! Now’s definitely the time to take it!

GLOBAL INFORMATION IS POWER, GO BEYOND GOOGLE SCHOLAR!

IS:3011 Library Strategies for International Topics (1 s.h.)
Runs March 12 – May 7, 2015, Thursdays 3:00-4:30pm

This course teaches skills for gathering and using information required for international jobs, upper-level I.S. coursework, and individual research. Students will develop a familiarity with a variety of research and popular materials, become experts in at least one academic research database and enhance their critical thinking skills. The class will feature small group activities, short student presentations and an individual research consultation with the instructor.

Questions? Email the instructor at brett-cloyd@uiowa.edu

INTERNATIONAL AND U.S. STUDENTS COME TOGETHER!

Global@Iowa (CSI:3110) brings together new international and current domestic students to create a learning environment where all students can be introduced to the issues and experiences of the others. Course content will include defining culture and values, cultural self-awareness, building relationships across cultures, perspectives on the UI student experience, communication styles, U.S. diversity and campus resources. Assignments will include brief reflection papers, significant in-class discussion, and one small group project. Permission to register is required, and there is an online application.

Please email Shuhui Lin (shuhui-lin@uiowa.edu) if you are interested in enrolling in the Spring 2015 semester.

Call for Papers: The Arab Spring in a Global Context

Undergraduate students, graduate students, professional, experts, and scholars are invited to submit abstracts for the upcoming Provost’s Global Forum at the University of Iowa, “The Arab Spring in a Global Context,” to be held in Iowa City, Iowa, April 30 to May 1, 2015.

The wave of uprisings known as the Arab Spring may have changed or at least challenged the relationship between the governed and governing actors not only in Arab countries but in other societies with Muslim people around the world. Emerging issues and changing circumstances are providing scholars from all academic disciplines with opportunities to apply and/or revise old theories, and this conference will facilitate an exchange and sharing of new ideas. Activities will include presentations of research papers and reports, roundtable conversations, panel discussions, musical performances, book exhibits, film and documentary screenings, and more.

The deadline for submitting paper abstracts is November 30. Competitive prizes will be awarded to exceptional undergraduate and graduate student papers.

For more information about the conference and to submit abstracts, visit http://international.uiowa.edu/arab-spring-global-context.
Cultural Vistas Paid Fellowships

The Cultural Vistas Fellowship affords 12 underrepresented U.S. university students the unique opportunity to advance their career goals, develop global competencies, and experience life in another culture with eight-week summer internships in Argentina, Germany, and India.

Candidates for the Cultural Vistas Fellowship must meet the following requirements:
• U.S. citizens enrolled full-time at a four-year accredited U.S. college or university
• Rising junior or senior status; minimum GPA of 3.0
• Ages 18-30
• No formal prior work or study abroad experiences
• Prior knowledge of language of host country (applicable in Germany & Argentina only)

Strong preference will be given to students historically underrepresented in international exchange. This includes, but is not limited to Pell Grant recipients; veterans; first-generation college students; STEM majors; members of minority communities within the United States; and non-traditional students.

CIVIC Internship Opportunities for Spring 2015

The Council for International Visitors to Iowa Cities (CIVIC) is a community-based non-profit organization that hosts international visitors. Internships are renewable for the 2015-16 academic year. To learn more about CIVIC, including our upcoming programs visit: http://civiconline.wordpress.com/

Humanity in Action Fellowship

The Humanity in Action Fellowship brings together international groups of university students and recent graduates to explore national histories of discrimination and resistance, as well as examples of issues affecting different minority groups today.

Campus Deadline December 3rd

Interested students MUST contact Kelly Thornburg by calling 319-335-1874.

Summer Internship in International Development

Are you passionate about global change, committed to learning by doing, and ready to engage in hands-on global development?

GESI will equip students to
• Work directly with local communities and community organizations in Bolivia, the Dominican Republic, Kenya, Nicaragua, India, South Africa, or Uganda
• Earn two Northwestern course credits (the equivalent to six semester credits)
• Live with a host family and immerse yourself in another culture for eight weeks
• Work in teams of undergraduates to design and implement a development project collaboratively in microfinance, social enterprise, education, environmental sustainability, global health, and more

To learn more about GESI, and how to apply, go to www.gesi.northwestern.edu. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis. Early deadlines are December 15, 2014 and January 15, 2015, for guaranteed first choice placement if accepted into the program. Final deadline is March 1, 2015, but please apply early, as spaces will fill.

If you have questions and want to speak to a member of the GESI staff, please contact us at gesi@northwestern.edu or 847.491.5932.
Established in 1981, the Presidential Internship Program at The American University in Cairo (AUC) provides recent university graduates the opportunity to spend an academic year working at the highest levels of an international university, learning Arabic, and experiencing life in Cairo. Program benefits include a monthly living stipend, faculty housing, private Arabic tutoring, subsidized trips around Cairo and Egypt, and more.

We have traditionally accepted a diverse array of students, including those with no background in Arabic or Middle Eastern Studies. Interested students should visit ACUEgypt’s website for more information on the program and how to apply. You can also visit our Facebook page and blog. The application is due January 15, 2015. Contact interns@aucegypt.edu with any questions.

Apply to be Global Health Corps Fellow!

There is no single experience, background, quality or skill that makes someone the “right” candidate for the fellowship. Rather, we are looking for outstanding individuals who are seeking to apply their skills and their passion for health equity to a lifelong community of global change-makers. We do not expect that fellows will have a background in public health or that they have been involved in international development work before. We believe that global health organizations can greatly benefit from individuals who have worked in or studied a wide variety of fields. We strongly encourage applicants from all sectors to apply, including but by no means limited to engineering, finance, consulting, government, architecture, research, technology, and education. For more information, visit http://ghcorps.org/fellows/apply/

Application Requirements:
- Be 30 or under at the start of the fellowship
- Have an undergraduate university degree by July 2015
- Be proficient in English

Application Timeline for the 2015-2016 Fellowship:
- November 5, 2014: Part 1 of the application opens
- December 9, 2014: Position descriptions posted online. Part 2 of the application opens
- February 3, 2015: Applications close at 11:59pm EST

Boren Scholarships and Fellowships

The applications for the 2015-2016 David L. Boren Scholarships and Fellowships are now available at www.borenawards.org. Boren Awards provide unique funding opportunities for U.S. undergraduate and graduate students to study in Africa, Asia, Central & Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America, and the Middle East, where they can add important international and language components to their educations.

Boren Scholars and Fellows represent a variety of academic backgrounds, but all are interested in studying less commonly taught languages, including but not limited to Arabic, Chinese, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, and Swahili. As part of the African Languages Initiative, Boren Award applicants have the opportunity to further their study of Akan/Twi, French, Portuguese, Swahili, Wolof, or Zulu. For a complete list of languages, visit our website.

Undergraduate students can receive up to $20,000 for an academic year's study abroad and graduate students up to $30,000 for language study and international research. In exchange for funding, recipients commit to working in the federal government for a minimum of one year.

National Application Deadlines
- Boren Fellowship: January 27, 2015
- Boren Scholarship: February 4, 2015
More information about University of Iowa deadlines can be found at http://international.uiowa.edu/funding/student-grants-and-fellowships/student-funding-awards.

Sociolinguistic Interdisciplinary Studies and Community-based Projects Towards Language Recognition and Reinforcement of Ecuadorian Amerindian Languages

Marleen Haboud,
Fulbright Visiting Scholar from Ecuador

Wednesday, December 3rd at 4:30pm. at 315, Phillips Hall

Ecuador, one of the smallest countries of South America (272,045 sq. km.), is known by its geographic, cultural and linguistic diversity. In addition to Spanish, 13 indigenous languages are still spoken, although some are highly endangered. These indigenous languages are found in Ecuador’s three natural regions: the Coast, the Sierra highlands and the Amazon basin as well as in the Galapagos Islands.

Based on recent community-based sociolinguistic studies which try to actively document the languages, this talk provides a general overview of Ecuadorian indigenous language use patterns and describes current efforts towards maintenance.

Marleen Haboud with Francisca Marquiza, Kichwa activist Salinas, Ecuador

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all UI-sponsored events. To request an accommodation to participate, please call 319-335-0653 in advance.
Shot@Life educates, connects and empowers Americans to champion vaccines as one of the most cost-effective ways to save the lives of children in developing countries. A national call to action for a global cause, the campaign rallies the American public, members of Congress, and civil society partners around the fact that together, we can save a child's life every 20 seconds by expanding access to vaccines.

Join us for an educational event to learn more about Shot@Life and your role in the movement as a student and future professional.

This event is free to attend, and dinner will be served.

Internship Period: January 5, 2015 - May 30, 2015 (approximate)

The Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) is a Washington-based non-profit, bipartisan public policy organization established in 1962 to provide strategic insights and practical policy solutions to decision makers concerned with global security and prosperity.

JOB SUMMARY:
CSIS is seeking several research interns to support the China studies program during the spring (January-May 2015). The Freeman Chair in China Studies is dedicated to delivering informed public policy debate, expert briefings, and strategic policy recommendations on greater China and East Asia. Key research areas as they relate to the available internships include U.S.-China relations, China-North Korea relations, cross-Strait relations, U.S.-China-Taiwan relations, Asian maritime disputes, Chinese domestic politics, and regional economics. Because of the fast-paced work environment, interns should be motivated self-starters that are able to engage in a wide variety of analytic and logistical task work.

- Write for our Asia policy blog, cogitAsia
- Opportunities to co-author articles with senior scholars
- Assist in research, writing and analysis for articles, conference reports, event summaries, grant proposals, and other such projects as dictated by program needs
- Assist in spot and background research
- Monitor events in Northeast Asia and China, and reporting daily
- Provide logistical and administrative support with ongoing programs and projects
- Assist in event planning and staffing
- Assist with any special tasks, presentations, projects, reports
- Translate articles and speeches from Chinese to English and English to Chinese
- Perform a variety of other Freeman Chair related duties as assigned

Requirements:

KNOWLEDGE, EDUCATION, AND EXPERIENCE:
- Applicants currently enrolled in or those that have recently completed a master’s degree are preferred, but undergraduates welcome to apply
- Must have at least a 3.0 GPA (on a 4.0 scale) from an accredited U.S. institution or equivalent from a non-U.S. institution
- Must be eligible to work in the United States
- Must be able to commit to at least 25-35 hours a week
- Must have strong writing and research skills
- Must have strong communication and interpersonal skills
- Must have strong analytical skills
- Must have the ability to work independently
- Must demonstrate academic/professional background in Chinese foreign policy and national security issues
- Mandarin language ability not required but highly desirable

APPLICATION MATERIALS:
Interested applicants, please apply here. All applicants must submit the following:
1. A resume and cover letter in one PDF document
2. A short (no more than 5 pages) writing sample of your own or based on the following prompt: Evaluate China’s recent bilateral relations with one of its neighbors. Has that relationship changed since Xi Jinping came to power? Why or why not? What conclusions can be drawn about Chinese foreign policy generally?
3. One letter of recommendation – submit to jvitello@csis.org.

If you have additional materials, please submit them to jvitello@csis.org.

Need help finding us? Use the map of our new location on csis.org with parking lots and metro stops.

Attention graduating seniors and recent graduates:

The online application for the 2015 Thomas R. Pickering Graduate Foreign Affairs Fellowships is now open. The Pickering Fellowship helps talented students who want to pursue a Foreign Service career in the U.S. Department of State.

!Pickering Fellowship Program

Funded by the State Department, the Pickering Fellowships honor Career Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering, one of the nation’s most respected Foreign Service Officers. The goal of the program is to attract outstanding students from all ethnic and social backgrounds who are dedicated to representing America’s interests abroad. Women, members of minority groups historically underrepresented in the Foreign Service, and students with financial need are encouraged to apply.

The Pickering Graduate Fellowships provide up to $37,500 annually for academic expenses, covering the first and second year of graduate study, and include two paid State Department summer internships (domestic and abroad), as well as professional development through workshops and informational seminars and mentoring by U.S. Foreign Service Officers. At the time of application, eligible students must be current seniors or college graduate who will be entering a two-year terminal master’s degree program in the fall of the Fellowship year; they must have a minimum undergraduate GPA of 3.2 (4.0 scale); and they must be United States citizens.

The application deadline is January 16, 2015.

More information is available on the program’s website at www.woodrow.org/pickering.
