Latina/o Studies offers an interdisciplinary perspective on the history, culture, politics, and experiences of Latina/os, the largest minority population in the U.S. The minor offers a versatile curriculum comprised of courses which introduce/explore peoples who have a long-term presence in the U.S. and the Midwest. The minor helps prepare students for careers in the health professions, law, social work, the arts, community activism, education, and business, and to respond to changing U.S. demographics.
