UIGPS Fall 2008 Conference
Saturday, November 1, 2008

9:00am-9:30am  EPB 255: Bagels, Coffee, etc.

9:30am-10:45am  Matthew Drabek
“Wittgenstein on Generality and Philosophical Explanation” (EPB 106)

          Patrick Monaghan
“On the Alleged Advantages of the Substratum Theory” (EPB 105)

10:45am-Noon Amber Griffioen
“A Mind Divided: Can Intentionalist Mind-Partitioning Accounts Make Sense of Self-Deception?” (EPB 106)

          John DePoe
“Berkeley's Continuity Argument for God's Existence” (EPB 105)

Noon-1:30pm  Lunch

1:30pm-3:00pm  Pete Legrant
“Spinoza is a 1-Calorie Nominalist” (EPB 106)

          Ian MacMillan, “What’s So Bad about Epistemic Circularity?” (EPB 105)

3:00pm-3:30pm  Coffee Break

3:30pm-5:30pm  Keynote address (EPB 109)
“William James and Psychical Research: A Reinstatement of the Vague into Epistemology”
Tadd Ruetenik, Saint Ambrose University