Attending: Helena Dettmer; Andrew Forbes; Eric Gidal; Anita Jung; Collin Kepner (student member); Rebekah Kowal; Brian Lai; Ana Rodríguez-Rodríguez; Jennifer Rogers; David Ryfe, Shaun Vecera

1. The minutes from February 27 were approved as written.

2. The following proposals previously recommended by the GE Curriculum Committee (GECC) for approval were discussed by UEPCC and approved, with members noting the strength and creativity of the proposals.

   - PSY:1501 Everyone’s a Little Bit Biased: The Science Behind Stereotyping, Prejudice, and Discrimination (3 s.h.), approved for GE status in Diversity and Inclusion (DI).
   - MATH:1350 Quantitative Reasoning for Business (4 s.h.), approved for GE status in Quantitative or Formal Reasoning (QFR).
   - MATH 1250: Facets of Mathematics: From Puzzles to Cryptography and from Nature to Arts and History (3 s.h.), approved for GE status in Quantitative or Formal Reasoning (QFR).

3. A proposal for a new major in Translation (BA) from Literary Translation and the Division of World Languages, Literatures and Cultures was discussed with guest Aron Aji, Director of the MFA program in [Literary Translation](https://www Example Link). The proposal for the undergraduate major was approved, with the discussion focusing on the importance of translation in the 21st century; the urgent need for translators; and the primary practice, theory, and challenges involved in translation. As the proposal states, the thirty-three hours of required course work for the major will move the “novice learner through successive levels of proficiency in practice, methods and theory” as a first step toward “careers in literary, legal, medical, and technical translation.” The proposal will next move to the CLAS Faculty Assembly for discussion, as indicated by CLAS governance procedures.

4. The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Helena Dettmer, Associate Dean for Undergraduate Programs and Curriculum, and Professor, Department of Classics
Secretary for UEPCC, pro tem
