ICFRC Lecture Luncheon – Thursday, Feb. 6, 12:00-1:15pm

Drew Kitchen, PhD, Assistant Professor, UI Anthropology Department

“The Co-Evolution of Humans and Pathogens”

Pathogens and parasites have evolved in intimate relationships with their human hosts, and have often played central roles in human population history. Notably, human pathogens evolve with surprising rapidity, quickly exploiting novel niches introduced by shifts in human behavior or ecology. In this talk, Drew Kitchen will present recent work that investigates the connection between pathogen/parasite evolution and the history of their human host populations. He will close with a discussion of how human parasites, such as lice, may colonize new niches introduced by shifts in human behavior, and in so doing, become unique markers of evolutionary history.

Kitchen graduated from the Johns Hopkins University in 2001 with a B.S. in Biomedical Engineering, after which he then obtained an M.Sc. (Biology) from the University of Oxford (Hertford College) in 2003, before receiving both an M.A. (2004) and a Ph.D. (2008) in Anthropology from the University of Florida. Before joining the University of Iowa in 2012 as an Assistant Professor in the Anthropology department, he was a postdoc in the Center of Infectious Disease Dynamics at the Penn State University. Drew's research interests are in human evolution and pathogen evolution. His current research is focused on the molecular evolution of pathogens including the macro evolutionary patterns of pathogen emergence and divergence, and genetic studies of ancient human migrations in general and the peopling of the Americas in particular.

The 3-11 Disaster and Its Effect on Cultural Attitudes and Religious Practices in Northeast Japan

Friday, February 7th
12:00 pm - 1:00 pm, Obermann Center

For this lunch talk, Nathan Peterson will focus on the role of religious institutions - Buddhist temples, Shinto Shrines, and "New Religion" churches - and their practices during the immediate aftermath of the March 11, 2011 earthquake and tsunami and resulting nuclear crisis, as well as the slow recovery process in nearby coastal communities.

The devastation of these religious institutions and the temporary altars constructed by people to memorialize their loss gage the scope of the disaster and how it created an unprecedented situation in Northeast Japan. Peterson's research challenges stereotypes of people living in this area while illustrating how, despite the preconception that most Japanese are secular, religious institutions, their practices, and the culture embodied by them kept the communities together when social and civic institutions were at their weakest.

Nathan Peterson, a PhD candidate in the School of Art & Art History, is currently teaching in China at Tianjin University and is engaged in research concerning the effects of the 2011 tsunami and nuclear crisis in Japan. He has also done considerable research on the contemporary Chinese artist Ai Weiwei. In 2013, Peterson received the Anne T. Cleary Fellowship from the University of Iowa in order to finish his dissertation research.

This lunch talk by Nathan Peterson is a joint event between the Center for Asian Pacific Studies and the Obermann Working Group "Reading Asia Through Contemporary Philosophy." Lunch is being provided by CAPS for this event. Please email erin-hackathorn@uiowa.edu if you will be attending and would like lunch.

UI Business Model Competition

John Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center and University of Iowa Research Foundation are pleased to announce the new UI Business Model Competition with $60,000 in total cash prizes. The Business Model Competition is based on a new approach to entrepreneurship, which encourages aspiring entrepreneurs to test business assumptions early with customers in order to make necessary pivots to their original ideas and end with a validated solution to their customers' need. This competition is open to UI faculty, staff, and students.

WORKSHOP
The business model workshop will take place Friday, February 7th, from 11:30am -1:00pm, at the Bedell Entrepreneurship Learning Laboratory. Individuals that are interested in competing are highly encouraged to attend this workshop, as this is a new competition with unique guidelines. RSVP to attend the workshop at http://www.iowajpec.org/event/business-model-competition-workshop-registration/. If you wish to participate but cannot attend the workshop, please contact the John Pappajohn Entrepreneurial Center at iowajpec@uiowa.edu or call 319-335-1022.

Thinking about transferrable skills that you will need to get jobs after you graduate?
Looking for 1 s.h. for spring 2014?
Enroll in this 8-week class on ISIS:

187:096:002  (IS:3011:0002)
Library Strategies for Int’l Research
Begins: Mar 13, 2014
Ends: May 08, 2014
3:00P - 4:35P Th 4037 LIB

Ask around! This course is NOT just for students who are completing 187:199 Intl Studies Senior Project or 187:198 Honors Thesis Intl Studies.

This is a course that will teach you research/library skills that will help you in your other University of Iowa classes, and also importantly will give you transferrable skills that will make you more competitive after graduation in such fields as teaching; policy work; non-profit advocacy; marketing/communications, etc.

Here is what other IS students who have taken the course have said:

“This class opens your methods of finding research and information that you didn’t even know existed.”

“It alerted me to the amount of sources which are available, and how to find them on specific databases.”

“I would have loved to have known these resources before my last year at UI.”

Instructor: Brett Cloyd. brett-cloyd@uiowa.edu, 319-335-5743

http://guides.lib.uiowa.edu/intl_studies

- Learn about research tools to help give any project focus.
- Become an expert on a research database and share your experience with classmates.
- Do one-on-one research consultation with a librarian, plus referrals when appropriate.
- Increase your awareness of the scholarly research process: good for those looking to go to grad school.
- Sessions on Government Information will help you include primary research material like reports and hearings.
- Students will search newspaper databases and statistical datasets.
- Citation Help. Keeping track of your citations can be time consuming and frustrating, but you need to do a good job to avoid plagiarism. RefWorks is a handy tool that helps you keep track of what you have used. Once you create an account, you can look for ways to export citations in the various library databases (like Smart Search, or the EbscoHost databases).
- Time devoted to topic and research question formation, including development of good search strategies.

The Cultural Vistas Fellowship affords underrepresented U.S. university students the unique opportunity to advance their career goals, develop global competencies, and experience life in another culture. Cultural Vistas will select up to 12 fellows to take part in this multinational professional development program that includes eight-week summer internships in Argentina, Germany, and Singapore. This fellowship opportunity is funded by Cultural Vistas.

Summer 2014: Sustainability in Asia, Europe, & Latin America

Cultural Vistas Fellows will enrich their academic learning through professional internship and immersion experiences focused on environmental sustainability. One cohort of up to four fellows will travel to each international destination. The program will take place in five distinct phases:

1. Virtual learning component to orient fellows to their host country and each other, discuss sustainability issues, and prepare for their time abroad
2. Pre-departure orientation in New York City for fellows to meet, share learning goals, and prepare for their international internships
3. Eight-week internships in Buenos Aires, Berlin, and Singapore. During this phase, fellows will part in an online learning exchange to process and provide comparative analyses of their experiences.
4. Re-entry seminar in New York City bringing together fellows to reflect on their experiences and share what they learned during the program
5. Post-program "Fellows in Service" activities that highlight the learning acquired on campuses and in local communities

Program Benefits:

- Program-related travel expenses, including round-trip airfare to and within internship country; travel to New York City for pre-departure and re-entry seminars
- Internship placement in Argentina, Germany, or Singapore
- Accommodations throughout program, including pre-departure and re-entry seminars
- Virtual learning seminar
- Pre-departure support services
- Cultural orientation upon arrival in host country
- Visa application support (where applicable)
- Emergency medical insurance during internship phase

Funding & Financial Information:

- Program-related transportation*, accommodations, support services, online seminar, emergency medical coverage, and internship placements are all covered.
- Estimated Out-of-Pocket Expenses:
  - Passport: $135
  - Food: $700
  - Total: $835 estimated (please note this does not include personal spending)

*Fellows will be provided a stipend to offset costs of round-trip transportation to New York City

Eligibility:

- U.S. citizens enrolled full-time at a four-year accredited U.S. college or university
- Rising junior or senior status; minimum GPA of 3.0
- Ages 18-30
- Academic or practical experience (volunteer or work) in sustainability, environmental awareness, engineering, and related sciences
- Prior knowledge of language of host country (applicable in Germany and Argentina only)

*Strong preference will be given to students historically underrepresented in international exchange. This includes, but is not limited to Pell Grant recipients; veterans; first-generation college students; STEM majors; members of minority communities within the United States; and non-traditional students.

For more information, please contact cvfellowship@culturalvistas.org.

To Apply: Please submit an application to https://mainportal.culturalvistas.org/Program/Participant/Registration.aspx?ProgramName=CVFellowship&ProgramGroupId=1

Applications for the UIHP Scholarship Competition are due by 11:59 PM on Monday, February 10, 2014.
The Fellows Project | UIHP Scholarships & Fellowships | 2014-2015

Purposeful engagement with extraordinary challenge requires us to know ourselves as well as we know our disciplines. The Fellows Project was established to not only identify and reward the most thoughtful, curious and motivated Honors students early on in their education, but to create a space where each Fellow is challenged to develop a knowledge of the self that will deepen their intellectual life, strengthen their engagement with their academic community and foster authenticity and confidence in their personal and professional relationships.

Each spring semester, current, full-time Honors freshmen and sophomores with a GPA of at least 3.5 are invited to apply to be a part of the Fellows Project. The application process involves a written application, faculty recommendation and for the approximately 20 to 25 first and second year students selected as finalists, an in-depth interview with a panel of Honors at Iowa faculty and staff.

Apply for a Carver Scholarship

The Roy J. Carver Charitable Trust aims to provide substantial scholarships to students who struggle to overcome significant social and economic obstacles in the pursuit of their education or who may be living in circumstances that may not normally be taken into account by other financial aid programs. Similar to Roy Carver himself, who “pulled himself up by his bootstraps” and lived the American dream, they will be students of great potential and promise, who have worked hard to make ends meet and have been faced with challenging or debilitating situations in their lives.

The Women's Resource and Action Center (WRAC) at The University of Iowa invites applications for the Margaret P. Benson Memorial Scholarship program for the upcoming (2014-15) academic year. Application deadline is February 11, 2014.

Created by a designated bequest to the University of Iowa Foundation, the Margaret P. Benson Memorial Scholarship recognizes qualified female applicants who demonstrate financial need and are committed to women's issues, diversity, and social activism. One or two awards are available each year. Awards generally range from $1000 to $2000 per academic year to be applied toward tuition, fees, living expenses, or books. The scholarship is presented at the UI's annual Celebration of Excellence and Achievement Among Women (http://www.uiowa.edu/celebrationofexcellence/).

The Margaret P. Benson Memorial Scholarship is administered and selected by individuals affiliated with the Women's Resource and Action Center at the University of Iowa. The Center works to create greater equity for individuals and communities of all identities, with a particular focus on women.

Information about eligibility and application procedures is available on the WRAC web site at http://wrac.uiowa.edu/services/scholarships/scholarships-and-awards.

The Iowa Chapter of Physicians for Social Responsibility (PSR) is the statewide chapter of the National PSR, a non-profit, non-partisan organization committed to preserving people’s health and well-being through research, education and advocacy. Both the state chapter and national organization combine the power of an active and concerned citizenry with the credibility of physicians and other health care professionals to promote policies and practices that address the gravest threats to global health and survival. To prevent what we cannot cure, PSR works to eliminate the threat of nuclear proliferation and war, and to slow, stop and reverse global warming and toxic degradation of the environment.

Ethical Campaign Development Internship, Re. Climate Change Mitigation

Deadline: 02/14/14

Hire-a-Hawk ID #43743

Iowa PSR is building a team to advance a climate campaign focused on public health issues, through the lens of an ethical and human rights perspective.

Overall the team will work to develop a campaign with three primary objectives:

1. Inform healthcare providers and others concerned with public health about the health effects of climate change.
2. Engage healthcare providers and others in the political debate about climate change.
3. Develop a strong voice for public health concerns in legislation for the mitigation of climate change.

In doing so, interns will find opportunities in:

1. Surveying healthcare providers and others to gauge their understanding of, and concerns for climate change.
2. Working and communicating with local, state, or federal politicians.
3. Working and communicating with healthcare providers, and facilities’ staff.
4. Development of educational events and materials.
5. Development and presentation of individual action items for climate change mitigation.
7. Fundraising.
8. Marketing.

To apply, please send the following to emily.monroe13@gmail.com:

1. Resume.
2. Cover Letter.
3. Writing Response: in 150-200 words, describe what “climate health” means to you.

INTERNSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR SPRING AND SUMMER SESSIONS 2014

The Council for International Visitors to Iowa Cities (CIVIC) is now accepting applications for internship positions for the spring and summer sessions. Based out of the International Programs’ offices in the Old Capitol Mall, CIVIC works to promote the ideals of citizen diplomacy. Its major activities involve receiving international emerging leaders to eastern Iowa, organizing local meetings with relevant individuals, institutions and companies, and arranging activities to interact socially, culturally, and professionally with eastern Iowans, including home visits and in some cases, home-stays.

CIVIC is looking for engaged and ambitious students to facilitate our growth and development for the spring and summer of 2014. Four uniquely-oriented internship positions are available with CIVIC, listed below:

1. An International Visitor Programming intern is needed to work with the Executive Director and the Program Coordinator to correspond with program and government agencies in Washington D.C., to write formal proposals to qualify for visitor projects, to manage and organize project itineraries, to escort visitors along their projects, and to assist in volunteer coordination.

2. A Graphic Design and Media intern will assist us with the development of new logos, a new website, social media campaigns, flyers, brochures, and related materials that will affect how our organization presents itself to our communities.

3. A Community Outreach intern is needed to help staff organize Meet and Greet participatory dinners, to cultivate CIVIC’s relationship with student and academic organizations, and will also assist the Executive Director to develop creative projects that engage community members in citizen diplomacy efforts.

4. A Membership and Corporate Fundraising intern is needed to assist the Executive Director in managing CIVIC’s membership database, reaching out to local businesses, and in writing grants to raise the required funds for CIVIC’s expansion and development.

Internships will be for 5-10 hours/week during the academic semester with marginal weekend and evening hours required. Interested parties should email their resume and a short statement of purpose to civic@uiowa.edu. Feel free to email any questions or contact us by phone at 319-335-0351.
Global Affairs Writers

THE POSITION

Interns will be responsible for writing articles for our magazine’s affiliated blog. However, this is not your typical blogger position. Our interns don’t waste their time writing news briefs summarizing popular stories. They write engaging analyses of current affairs that are provocative, insightful, and academically sound.

Topics are of the author’s choosing and must be approved prior to submission. In general, blogs will cover current political, social, and economic issues, have at least five citations, integrate visual and interactive media, and most importantly- offer an insightful analysis based on demonstrated research.

Because of our heightened standards, interns will only be responsible for writing one 1000-1200 word blog per week. This position gives interns the opportunity to be published, receive professional academic and editorial feedback, and gain practical working experience.

“Many Languages, One World” International Essay Contest

ELS Educational Services, Inc. (ELS) and the United Nations Academic Impact global initiative are working together to promote multilingualism through the Many Languages, One World Essay Competition and Global Youth Forum. The goal is to promote multilingualism and the continued study of the United Nations’ six official languages: Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian and Spanish. To qualify, entries must be in an official language of the United Nations that is not the entrant’s first language or language of instruction in his or her primary or secondary education.

Ten winners will be selected for each of the six official UN languages for a total of sixty- those 60 essay competition winners will be invited to New York where they will attend the UN Many Languages, One World Global Youth Forum. ELS will sponsor travel, room and meals for each of the contest winners to come to New York, from June 25-29, 2014 to participate in a conference to discuss principles of the UN Academic Impact and formulate action plans to address global issues. This interaction between speakers of many languages will demonstrate the benefits of multilingualism and multinational collaborative dialogue as part of the United Nations Academic Impact.

Essay contest winners will attend a conference at Adelphi University and will present the action plan outcomes of that dialogue at the United Nations Headquarters on June 27th. During the Global Youth Forum each language group will develop an action plan in support of selected principles of the United Nations Academic Impact initiative. The delegates will also have the opportunity to interact with student linguists from the USA and other countries who composed the winning essays. They will stay in student housing and share meals on the Adelphi campus located in lovely Garden City, New York and will also be taken on a tour of New York City.

Eligibility and Qualifications:

1. Students 18 years of age and older who are currently enrolled in a full-time program of study at a college or university are eligible to compete to win a place as a delegate to the Conference and Global Youth Forum.
2. The contestants must write their essay in one of the six official languages of the United Nations: Arabic, Chinese, English, French, Russian or Spanish. Entries must be in an official language of the United Nations that is not the entrant’s first language or language of instruction in his or her primary or secondary education.
3. The essay, not to exceed 2000 words, should explore: How multilingual ability advances global citizenship and understanding. The essay should reflect the entrant’s academic, cultural and national context.
4. Each entrant must be sponsored by a faculty member or university official. Upon completion of the reference form, the student will receive an email with information on how to enter and upload their essay to the contest website.
5. The deadline for essay submissions is February 21, 2014.

Full competition details, including forms for entry and submission, are available at http://ManyLanguagesOneWorld.ELS.edu.
