ICFRC Lecture Luncheon – Wednesday, March 5, 12:00–1:15pm

Philip Lutgendorf, Professor, UI Hindi & Modern Indian Studies
“Making Chai with a Fulbright”

Philip Lutgendorf was in India during 2010-11 as a Fulbright-Hays Senior Overseas Research Fellow. His research topic was the popularization of tea drinking in India and its evolution into the country's (invented) "national drink" – chai, a distinctive spiced tea. This topic necessarily touches on colonial era and post-Independence history, the rise of advertising, marketing, visual culture, changes in manufacturing, commerce, lifestyle, and eating habits.

Philip Lutgendorf is Professor of Hindi and Modern Indian Studies and has taught in the University of Iowa's Department of Asian and Slavic Languages and Literature since 1985. His research on the Indian epic, Ramayana, has appeared as two books, The Life of a Text (University of California Press, 1991), and Hanuman's Tale, The Messages of a Divine Monkey (Oxford University Press, 2007). He is presently translating the Ramcharitmanas of Tulsidas for the Murty Classical Library of India and Harvard University Press, and writing on the popularization of chai in 20th century India. He serves as President of the American Institute of Indian Studies (AIIS).

Register here, or contact the ICFRC office at (319) 335-0351 or ICFRC@uiowa.edu.

Lectures are 12:00-1:15 pm @ Congregational Church, 30 North Clinton Street. Luncheons are $9.00 for ICFRC members, $12.00 for non-members. We encourage you to bring guests who would enjoy this topic. Honors students, please register through the UI Honors or the UI Honors facebook site: www.facebook.com/HonorsatIowa.

Lessons in Drag, a performance by Kareem Khubchandani

Lessons in Drag explores South Asian popular culture (literature, film, performance) through anecdote, monologues, research interviews, stand-up comedy, and dance. The show raises issues of gender discipline, diasporic nostalgia, film reception, racialization and racism.

Kareem Khubchandani is a PhD candidate in Performance Studies at Northwestern University writing a dissertation titled "Hstyle: Queer Nightlife Performance in India and the South Asian Diaspora." He is an activist working with the LGBT South Asian organization Trikone-Chicago, and with the Bangalore Campaign for Sexual Minority Rights.

In December 2013, the Supreme Court of India reinstated Section 377 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC 377), a colonial-era law that criminalizes any 'carnal intercourse against the order of nature.' The law targets certain sex acts rather than any sexual or gender identity. However, the law is widely understood as criminalizing homosexuality, and has become a powerful symbol of discrimination against LGBT Indians. At the same time, other activists have criticized the movement against IPC 377 for ignoring more substantial concerns facing disenfranchised LGBT people such as working class transgender communities.

In this panel discussion, Kumar, Khubchandani, and Dutta, three scholar-activists who have several years of experience with Indian LGBT communities and movements, will discuss the politics of the movement against IPC 377.

Aniruddha Dutta is an assistant professor in the departments of GWSS and Asian and Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of Iowa. Dutta’s current research project examines how gender/sexual identity politics in India challenges, reconfigures or reproduces structural hierarchies of class/caste and access to citizenship.

Elakshi Kumar is a PhD candidate at the Dept. of GWSS at the University of Minnesota. His research examines the complex embodiments and sociocultural articulations of female-masculinities at the intersections of Hindu nationalism, globalization, Queer and lower caste social movements in Indian public culture.
Ragamala Dance, Sacred Earth
Thursday-Friday, March 6-7, 7:30 pm
UI North Hall, Space Place Theater

Ragamala Dance uses the dance form of Bharatanatyam to explore the human race and the landscapes we inhabit. Embracing their heritage, artistic directors Ranee and Aparna Ramaswamy integrate contemporary ideas with the South Indian tradition. Accompanied by live music, the performance explores timeless notions and present-day ideas.

Themes:
Cross cultural experience
Global tradition
Modern response to ancient art
Women’s studies

THE RISE AND DEMISE OF THE PILL

This lecture is part of the symposium “Pill and Pen” and sponsored by the Division of World Languages, Literatures, and Cultures; the departments of German, Chemistry, Cinematic Arts, Pharmacology as well as Gender, Women, and Sexuality Studies; Global Health Studies Programs, the Obermann Center for Advanced Studies, the Center for Human Rights, the Center for Asian and Pacific Studies, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Honors Program, and International Programs.

Introduction: Walter Gruenzweig

LECTURE BY CARL DJERASSI
THE FATHER OF THE CONTRACEPTIVE PILL
Night of 1,000 Dinners
A Celebration of International Women's Day!

When: March 6, 6:00PM-7:30PM (doors open at 5:30PM)
Where: Old Brick, corner of Clinton and Market Streets, Iowa City

Last year was Iowa UNA’s biggest Night of 1,000 Dinners and 2014 should be no exception! Join Iowa City's largest community celebration of International Women's Day. Enjoy an international dinner, live Arabic music, silent auction, door prizes, keynote speaker and more!

All proceeds from the silent auction will be donated to the UN Trust Fund to End Violence Against Women. This campaign is housed by UN Women which aids women and girls across the planet to live better lives free of discrimination and sexual violence. To date, the UN Trust Fund has delivered more than USD 86 million to 351 initiatives in 128 countries and territories.

Student tickets are $5 advance / $10 door. Community tickets are $20 advance / $25 door.

Be sure to visit our website and purchase your discounted ticket today!

The Iowa UNA holds Night of 1,000 Dinners in acknowledgement of International Women’s Day, a celebration of the gains for women around the world and a call for vigilance inspiring positive change. The Iowa UNA believes realizing the potential of every women and girl demands an end to today’s global epidemic of gender-based violence.

Summer 2014: 2-week course
George Washington University
U.S. Foreign Policy in a Global Era

Applications are now being accepted for this competitive summer program (for advanced undergraduates, professional and graduate students). Participate in a two-week course at George Washington University in Washington DC which includes lectures as well as site visits to key foreign policy institutions to study the complex factors that shape U.S. foreign policy.

Understanding the United States’ role in the world requires knowledge of not just the substance of U.S. foreign policy, but also how U.S. foreign policy is made, the history that informs it, the political culture that sustains it, and the ideas and interests that drive it. It requires an understanding of how Americans see their role in the world and how others interpret that role.

Volunteer Opportunity: Teach ESL in Des Moines

As part of our overall mission to support the international community in Iowa, the Iowa International Center has plans to expand ESL (English as a Second Language) instruction to refugees and immigrants living in Des Moines. We are thrilled to announce a new partnership with Zion Lutheran Church in Des Moines, where we will expand our professional ESL instruction, citizenship and life skills classes for the immigrants and refugees attending programs at Zion each week. If you are interested in volunteering to help students practice and improve their English during our classes, please email us!
It has become clearer over the last decades that adverse childhood experiences (ACEs) have a significant impact on adult health and well-being. The results of a screening in Iowa showed that 55% of Iowans have experienced at least one type of ACE, including physical, sexual, or emotional child abuse; or family dysfunction, including substance abuse, mental illness, criminal activity, parental separation, or domestic violence. This forum will bring together local, regional, national, and international scholars working on this subject to encourage researchers in Iowa to increase their efforts to understand the impact of ACEs on Iowa children and adults so that appropriate interventions can take place.

This symposium, which is free and open to the public, is part of the 2014 Provost’s Global Forum. Registration is required. For more information and to register, visit http://international.uiowa.edu/research
Global Health Studies Conference, Spring 2014

New forms of armed conflict and civil wars have steadily increased, disrupting fragile health infrastructures, and bringing death and injury to combatants and civilians alike.

This conference will examine the many interfaces between violent conflict and health, including increased spread of infectious disease, exploitation of vulnerable populations, degradation of the global environment, and prevention of violence through health promotion.

Library Strategies for Int'l Research
Begin: Mar 13, 2014
End: May 08, 2014
3:00P - 4:35P Th 4037 LIB

Ask around! This course is NOT just for students who are completing 187:199 Intl Studies Senior Project or 187:198 Honors Thesis Intl Studies.

This is a course that will teach you research/library skills that will help you in your other University of Iowa classes, and also importantly will give you transferrable skills that will make you more competitive after graduation in such fields as teaching; policy work; non-profit advocacy; marketing/communications, etc.

Here is what other IS students who have taken the course have said:

“This class opens your methods of finding research and information that you didn't even know existed.”

“It alerted me to the amount of sources which are available, and how to find them on specific databases.”

“I would have loved to have known these resources before my last year at UI.”

Instructor: Brett Cloyd. brett-cloyd@uiowa.edu, 319-335-5743

http://guides.lib.uiowa.edu/intl_studies

- Learn about research tools to help give any project focus.
- Become an expert on a research database and share your experience with classmates.
- Do one-on-one research consultation with a librarian, plus referrals when appropriate.
- Increase your awareness of the scholarly research process: good for those looking to go to grad school.
- Sessions on Government Information will help you include primary research material like reports and hearings.
- Students will search newspaper databases and statistical datasets.
- Citation Help. Keeping track of your citations can be time consuming and frustrating, but you need to do a good job to avoid plagiarism. RefWorks is a handy tool that helps you keep track of what you have used. Once you create an account, you can look for ways to export citations in the various library databases (like Smart Search, or the EbscoHost databases).
- Time devoted to topic and research question formation, including development of good search strategies.

Apply for a Carver Scholarship

The Roy J. Carver Charitable Trust aims to provide substantial scholarships to students who struggle to overcome significant social and economic obstacles in the pursuit of their education or who may be living in circumstances that may not normally be taken into account by other financial aid programs. Similar to Roy Carver himself, who “pulled himself up by his bootstraps” and lived the American dream, they will be students of great potential and promise, who have worked hard to make ends meet and have been faced with challenging or debilitating situations in their lives.

Get involved in a global arts organization in Cedar Rapids, Iowa

Over the past two decades, CSPS Hall has quietly established a national reputation by hosting some of the world's best artists. Most programs taking place at CSPS depend on a crew of talented and dependable volunteers. They serve on advisory committees, help with the installation of exhibits, sell tickets, greet patrons, and run the sound and light boards during performances. They also get to see concerts for free, interact with local and visiting artists, and form friendships with fellow volunteers. For students, it's a good way to gain experience, expand your network, and beef up your resume. If you're interested in becoming part of this stellar corps, shoot an email to Taylor Bergen at taylor@legionarts.org. To see the CSPS calendar, visit their website: http://legionarts.org/
The Kenneth J. Cmiel Funded Human Rights Internship Program provides funding to selected students who have secured a summer internship with a local, national or international non-governmental organization or governmental agency engaged in human rights related advocacy, research, or education.

The program provides funding for transportation and living expenses associated with the internship.

The University of Iowa’s Center for Human Rights sponsors the award to assist current undergraduate and graduate students in overcoming the costs that are often left uncovered in internships domestic and abroad.

This year’s application is now open! The deadline for submissions is 5:00 pm on March 14, 2014.

Just last year, Cmiel award winners:

- Helped design and build a bridge to connect two Nicaraguan communities
- Assisted in research, translation and grant writing in public health in Norway
- Worked in a hospital and learned about post-war healthcare recovery in Sarajevo
- Created informational health care materials for communities in the Dominican Republic

Tomorrow’s Youth Organization is an American non-profit organization that works in disadvantaged areas of the Middle East, enabling children, youth and parents to realize their potential as healthy, active and responsible family and community members. Interns will be based at our flagship center in Nablus (Palestine) for the Summer 2014 session (May-August dates are subject to change).

We are recruiting highly qualified and motivated interns with interest and experience in:
- Community development, social work and psychology
- Women’s empowerment through education and economic development
- Early childhood and youth programming.

The primary requirements for the position are:
- Native English speaker;
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills;
- Maturity, flexibility, initiative, perseverance and a good sense of humor given the challenging nature of daily life in Nablus;
- Proven ability to work independently as well as perform as a member of a team;
- Commitment to TYO's non-political, non-religious approach; and
- Creativity and positive energy for making a difference.

TYO interns will work full-time in cooperation with TYO local and international staff. Interns will implement programs for female entrepreneurs, university students and youth from refugee camps and other marginalized areas of the Nablus community. Each intern will develop and implement their own creative lesson plans through the session as well as informally acting as a liaison between TYO and the local community.

Programs may include workshops and classes on professional competency for university students, English and IT classes for female entrepreneurs, sports, drama and art for youth and children, community English classes and weekend recreational activities. Also, there are opportunities to collaborate with other organizations in Nablus as well as on grant-funded projects, at the TYO Center, in the areas of photography/painting and micro-finance projects for women.

TYO interns will have the chance to grow and develop professionally throughout the program. Interns receive the on-the-ground experience of working in Palestine as well as the chance to work in the non-profit sector with an American NGO. Additionally, interns will develop Monitoring and Evaluation plans for their classes as well as learn professional reporting and blog-writing techniques. They will also develop key professional skills including:
- communication and intra-personal skills
- problem-solving
- time management
• flexibility
• teamwork and cooperation

Successful applicants will be native English speakers. Applicants who are not native English speakers will not be considered.

Applicants are required to have significant experience with women social empowerment, development, childhood and youth programming, international and cross-cultural exposure and maturity.

Graduate students, young professionals and undergraduates are invited to apply. We are particularly interested in candidates with experience in the areas below:
• arts, drama, dance, photography, sports, IT particularly when used as therapy
• undergraduate or graduate studies in education, development, gender studies, psychology/social work, journalism and new media, or related fields
• health and fitness
• teaching/mentoring (e.g. camp counselor, tutor, etc)
• English as a Second Language (for all ages)
• social media (e.g. Flickr, Twitter, WordPress, etc) photography, documentary film production and editing
• Levantine Arabic speakers (a plus but translators will be provided)

If selected to participate in the internship program, TYO will provide interns with the following:
- Housing (room and board) at TYO’s expansive facility
- Multiple educational trips throughout the West Bank
- Arabic lessons with a private tutor

There is no salary for the internship. Applicants are encouraged to pursue funding options through their universities or communities.

Interested candidates should send:
- cover letter
- resume

To hr@tomorrowsyouth.org no later than March 13, 2014.

Short-listed candidates will be contacted for a Skype video interview beginning mid-March. Selected interns should plan to arrive in Nablus in May or June. The program will end in August.

INTERNSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR SPRING AND SUMMER SESSIONS 2014

The Council for International Visitors to Iowa Cities (CIVIC) is now accepting applications for internship positions for the spring and summer sessions. Based out of the International Programs’ offices in the Old Capitol Mall, CIVIC works to promote the ideals of citizen diplomacy. Its major activities involve receiving international emerging leaders to eastern Iowa, organizing local meetings with relevant individuals, institutions and companies, and arranging activities to interact socially, culturally, and professionally with eastern Iowans, including home visits and in some cases, home-stays.

CIVIC is looking for engaged and ambitious students to facilitate our growth and development for the spring and summer of 2014. Four uniquely-oriented internship positions are available with CIVIC, listed below:

1. An International Visitor Programming intern is needed to work with the Executive Director and the Program Coordinator to correspond with program and government agencies in Washington D.C., to write formal proposals to qualify for visitor projects, to manage and organize project itineraries, to escort visitors along their projects, and to assist in volunteer coordination.

2. A Graphic Design and Media intern will assist us with the development of new logos, a new website, social media campaigns, flyers, brochures, and related materials that will affect how our organization presents itself to our communities.

3. A Community Outreach intern is needed to help staff organize Meet and Greet participatory dinners, to cultivate CIVIC’s relationship with student and academic organizations, and will also assist the Executive Director to develop creative projects that engage community members in citizen diplomacy efforts.

4. A Membership and Corporate Fundraising intern is needed to assist the Executive Director in managing CIVIC’s membership database, reaching out to local businesses, and in writing grants to raise the required funds for CIVIC’s expansion and development.

Internships will be for 5-10 hours/week during the academic semester with marginal weekend and evening hours required. Interested parties should email their resume and a short statement of purpose to civic@uiowa.edu. Feel free to email any questions or contact us by phone at 319-335-0351.
